OPEN OLD BATTLE TO REFORM SENATE RULES

SPONSORED BY SENATOR

WESLEY P. JONES

REPUBLICAN WHIP SAYS FIGHT
STARTS AT COMING SESSION

FIRST ATTACK ON CONSIDERA-TION OF NOMINATIONS IN SECRET SESSIONS

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 22.—A revival of the old battle to reform the senate rules will be promoted at the outset of the coming session of congress, Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington, the republican whip, announced today.

Jones said he would introduce a resolution to prevent consideration of nominations in secret sessions except when a majority of the senate votes for secret sessions, and also a resolution designed to end filibusters by compelling senators to talk on the subject at any time pending before the senate.

With a new senate administration going into power, Jones believes the chances for rules revision are better now than they have been. He will try to force a vote on the issues early in the session, but concedes the majority is likely to send both proposed changes to the rules committee, known as "the senate graveyard" to which many proposed reforms have been referred but from which none recently have returned.

Vice President Curtis will relinquish the chairmanship of the graveyard committee to Senator George Moses who is opposed to rules reform in the two instances suggested by Jones. The Washington senator, however, said he would not permit the changes to be buried, and declared he would move to discharge the committee if it takes too long in considering the changes.

"There are a large number of senators who refuse to abide by the secrecy rule," Jones said, pointing to the United Press exclusive publication in January of the roll call on the nomination of former Secretary of Interior Roy O. West. "The rule is obsolete and as long as it stands in its present form, there will be no effective secrecy. I do not believe there is any excuse for continuing the present system."

"I believe also there would be few filibusters if a senator could be called to order for not speaking on the pending business."

The latter change was championed by former Vice President Dawes.

RICE COUNTY

ALFALFA DAY

HUNDREDS OF FARMERS ARE TO CELEBRATE AT FARIBAULT
TODAY

Faribault, Minn., March 22.—(UP)—Hundreds of southern Minnesota farmers and merchants poured into Faribault today to celebrate Rice county alfalfa day.

Cultivation of legume crops, particularly alfalfa, was the dominant theme of the holiday program which was to be climaxed by coronation of Miss Ila Nolan as "alfalfa queen."

Twenty of the prettiest girls of the county were chosen as Miss Nolan's escort and each of the beauties was dressed to represent a legume.

Nearly a score of special prizes were awarded to the winners of contests in connection with the promotion of alfalfa, clover, peas, beans and other crops.

The celebration was sponsored by the Rice county farm bureau in conjunction with the Faribault board of commerce.

IN KIANGSI, CHINA

Washington, March 22.—(UP)—The communist uprisings have begun in many parts of the southern portions of Kiangsi province in China and missionaries have been compelled to flee, the American consul-general at Canton informed the state department today. He said communists were burning many places.

Floods Bring New Dangers to Alabama Refugees

'GOULD FAMILY,'
VAUDEVILLE ACT,
ARE HEAVY EATERS

St. Paul, March 22.—(UP)—In protest before the senate public welfare committee to a bill which would prohibit children from appearing on the professional stage Jay Gould, Montevideo, father of the "Gould Family," a vaudeville act, declared that such a law would raise havoc with the family budget. Gould said his family, including eight children, consumed daily: 10 loaves of bread, $2.50 worth of meat, 12 quarts of milk, 3 dozen eggs, 3 pecks of potatoes and 3 pounds of butter.

FIRE THREATENED
GRAND MARAIS
EARLY TODAY

BROUGHT UNDER CONTROL AF-TER 4 BUILDINGS HAD BEEN DESTROYED

LOSS APPROXIMATELY $30,000
AND 3 MEN REPORTED
INJURED

Grand Marais, Minn., March 22.—(UP)—Fire, which for a time threatened to destroy this village was brought under control early today only after four buildings had been destroyed at a loss of approximately $30,000 and three men had been injured.

The post office, the Nylund business building, the Grand Marais bakery and the People's Supply store, were burned to the ground and only a desperate fight by local and volunteer firemen checked the spread of flames to other buildings.

John Martin and Sam Zimmerman were burned about the face and arms while fighting the flames and Victor Johnson suffered a crushed hand when he and others carried a safe from the two-story post office building.

Physicians dressed the injuries, none of which was serious enough for hospital treatment.

The blaze was believed to have originated in Nylund Barber Shop about midnight. After nearly five hours of work, the fire was brought under control shortly before day-break.

15 Persons Reported Killed, 80 Hurt by Alabama Tornado

NEGRO SCHOOL DEMOLISHED AT MAXWELLBORN, NEAR PIEDMONT

MANY PERSONS LEFT HOMELESS
WHEN TWISTER WIPED OUT TOWN

Piedmont, Ala., March 22.—Reports reaching here today from Maxwellborn, six miles west, said fifteen persons were killed and 80 injured by a tornado which struck there at 10:30 A. M.

A score of houses were reported blown away and a negro school demolished. Names of the reported victims were not immediately available, but rescue workers were rushed to the scene from here.

Later reports said a temporary hospital had been established at a store at Maxwellborn. Calls for help were sent out to Anniston and other nearby cities and towns.

Many persons were left homeless, it was said, when the twister virtually wiped out the town.

Confusing reports of the progress of the twister reached here.

Advices from Maxwellborn said Lincoln, west of here, had been hit, but Lincoln reported over telephone only a heavy hail and high wind was felt there and no damage was known.

Anniston, to the south, reported a phone call near the vicinity of the negro school house brought the information that two children had been killed and several injured.

Jacksonville, Ala., two miles east of Merrillton, however, re-

Dunn Cigaret Tax Bill Gets Quiet in the House, Friends Now Seeking to Revive It

FOUR MEN MAY STILL BE ALIVE
IN COAL MINE

16 MORE ARE UNACCOUNTED FOR AT KINLOCH MINE IN PENNSYLVANIA

TWENTY-TWO KNOWN DEAD IN EXPLOSION IN MINE NEAR PARNASSUS

Parnassus, Pa., March 22.—(UP)—Officials of the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company announced early today that, in addition to 22 known dead in the explosion at the mine yesterday, four men were believed still alive in the mine and 16 more were unaccounted for.

Twenty-one of the dead were taken from the mine. The other died in a hospital from burns.

The statement of Ira Thomas, deputy state mine inspector, that the four men may still be alive revived tired workers and buoyed the hopes of relatives in the crowd who were watching the rescue work.

According to Thomas, the men were seen by a group of miners who escaped. Unless the four men wandered about in the mine and stumbled into black-damp atmosphere, they will be found alive in an air-pocket, Thomas believes.

Although grief filled parts of the small mining community for those killed in the blast, many homes were scenes of rejoicing today for the escape of more than 230 other miners in the workings when the blast ripped through the interior.

Company officials announced today that the explosion, which rocked the countryside for miles, probably was caused when a conveyor chain in the tangle of the mine broke and dropped tons of coal and steel to the bottom.

A spark, which occurred in the crash at the bottom, probably ignited coal dust in the mine.

Investigations into the disaster

ported eight persons killed and about a score injured in a tornado said to have struck Merrillton. A negro school was reported demolished and about 30 buildings blown down.

Birmingham, Ala., March 22.—(UP)—At least three persons were killed by a tornado which destroyed the village of Merrillton in eastern Alabama today.

All three of the dead were negro school children killed when the twister wrecked the village school house, according to Mrs. Myrtle Nixon, proprietor of the village general store, which escaped destruction.

The known dead, according to Mrs. Nixon are: Miller Parker, Roosevelt Smith and John Henry Lee.

Mrs. Nixon, whose telephone apparently was the only one in operation in the village, said the dead might possibly reach 15.

Three were seriously injured, she said. They are: Thomas Lee, and Margaret Jean, negro school children, and Madge George, negro teacher of the school.

The Nixon store was turned into an emergency hospital immediately after the storm struck. Mrs. Nixon said. Nurses and doctors from Jacksonville and Piedmont were rushed to the scene.

Miss Willie Belle Emerson, Piedmont nurse, said in a telephone conversation that rescue workers at the scene of the disaster told her eight were dead. She said she administered aid to more than 20 injured.

KANSAS CITY
POLICEMEN FAIL IN INTELLIGENCE TEST

Kansas City, Mo., March 22.—(UP)—Fifty-eight per cent of Kansas City's policemen failed to pass the minimum intelligence standard for a good patrolman as set by August Vollmer, Berkeley, Calif., chief of police, it was announced today.

were begun today by the state assembly, Westmoreland county officials and the state department of mines.

Parnassus, Pa., March 22.—(UP)—Lawrence Allhouse, one of the missing miners in the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company which was wrecked by an explosion yesterday, was rescued alive today.

Allhouse was found injured in the workings almost a mile from the pit entrance where the explosion occurred.

At noon today the known death list in the explosion stood at 22 with approximately 15 miners still missing, the coal company officials said.

Allhouse had lain injured in the mine more than 26 hours.

As he was carried up the 300-foot slope of the mine on a stretcher his eyes were open but he seemed in a daze. He was taken to a nearby hospital where the extent of his injuries were not announced.

After bringing Allhouse out of the pit the rescue team which found him hurried back into the workings hopeful of reaching three other miners who are believed to be alive in the section of the mine where Allhouse was found.

2 FIREMEN KILLED IN PEORIA FIRE

ROOF COLLAPSES, ONE MAN IS MISSING, $200,000 FIRE
DAMAGE

Peoria, Ill., March 22.—(UP)—Two firemen were killed by collapse of a roof and one man is missing in a $200,000 fire here today.

Firemen Dick Keufel and Tom O'Connor were killed and M. E. Stroyer, a watchman, was reported missing.

The fire destroyed the Peoria market, with a loss of $150,000, and $50,000 damage to the Block and Kuhl department store.

Peoria, Ill., March 22.—Collapse of the roof of the Peoria market during a fire here today was believed to have trapped and killed three firemen and a night watchman.

Captain Tom Lyons, Dick Keufel and Tom O'Connor, firemen, and a man named Stroyer, a night watchman, entered the building before the roof caved.

The fire still burned this morning, and because of this and the fear that the walls also would tumble, no attempt had been made to search for bodies.

Losses were estimated at nearly $200,000.

NEW REGULATIONS TO SAVE DIPLOMATIC LIQUOR FROM SEIZURE

VOTED DOWN 61
TO 60 IN LATE
THURSDAY SESSION

MOTION MAY BE MADE TO HAVE THE VOTE RECON-
SIDERED

GOV. CHRISTIANSON SHOWS SOME INTEREST IN FATE OF BILL

St. Paul, March 22.—Minnesota legislative "doctors" worked feverishly here today in an effort to put life back into the so-called Dunn cigarette tax bill which was almost mortally wounded late Thursday in the house of representatives.

By a vote of 61 to 60—five less than the required majority—the bill which would impose a 2-cent state tax on "fags" was voted down, while Representative Roy E. Dunn, Pelican Rapids, its author, exhorted his followers to rally in defense.

Governor Theodore Christianson, who would welcome means for raising additional revenue to meet the increasing cost of state government, was said to have conferred with house leaders after the session and asked if a motion would be made to have the vote reconsidered.

He was informed that such a motion could be made at once and it was assumed that Dunn would call up his tax bill again today.

The Pelican Rapids legislator pointed out that five house members were absent when the vote was taken and that perhaps three of them would have favored the bill.

Opponents of the measure, however, claimed that the majority of the absentees would have voted against the tax.

At any rate it is believed that the heretofore staunchly pro-administration house will rally around the bill especially if it were known that the governor had exhibited interest in it.

Should the bill pass the lower house, however, it would still have the senate to hurdle, and that barrier is believed insurmountable in this particular instance.

Dunn and his followers pointed out before the vote was taken that some additional forms of taxation must be found if taxes on real property were not to be raised still higher.

The cigarette tax, they said, would bring at least $1,500,000 to the state coffers annually.

Opponents of the tax declared it would be a nuisance and that the returns would be so small as to constitute a "piker" contribution to the state.

St. Louis, Mar. 22.—Because his wife chose her dog when asked to choose between it and her husband, E. Walter Alch was awarded a divorce here.

114 LOSE LIVES
IN MOVIE SHOW IN
RUSSIAN PROVINCE

Moscow, March 22.—(UP)—One hundred and fourteen persons lost their lives a week ago in the village of Igolchino, Vladimir province, as the result of a fire which razed the wooden clubhouse in which a motion picture was being shown, it was reported here today.

Most of the village adults and many children were packed into the small hall for the showing of film commemorating the anniversary of the Paris commune. A number of the victims were specially invited from the nearest town of Morum.

HUMBLE OF FRANCE PAY
TRIBUTE TO FOCH

BODY OF FIELD MARSHAL RESTS
IN A MAGNIFICENT
CASKET

THRONGS OF ADMIRERS CROWD
INTO QUIET MANSION TO
PAUSE BEFORE BIER

Paris, March 22.—(UP)—The body of Field Marshal Ferdinand Foch rested in a magnificent casket today as the humble of France paid tribute to their great.

Throng of admirers—stolid war veterans, widows of soldiers and orphans—filed into the quiet mansion on the Rue De Grenelles to pause for a moment beside the bier of the "Little Warrior."

All day the slow file of men and women was to be permitted to pass by the blue-clad body, which was removed this morning from the simple catafalque before which a king had bowed his head a few hours before.

Saturday the doors of the mansion will be closed to permit the family of the great soldier to mourn alone before the government pays the pompous tribute of a national funeral. The great soldier will rest beside the eternal flame under the Arc de Triomphe, which will be draped in black, on Sunday and Monday.

From the grave of the unknown soldier he will be removed to the Notre Dame Cathedral and thence to the Invalides to rest beside that other soldier, Napoleon.

Arrangements have been completed for the national funeral Tuesday although some details still are lacking. Traffic will be suspended on the streets through which the funeral procession will pass.

Church bells throughout Paris will ring. Six horses will draw the gun carriage on which the casket will be placed and the marshal's favorite charge, saddled and with stirrups reversed, will be led behind.

The invitation to allied governments to participate in the funeral services made it probable that the pall bearers would include Marshal Joffre, Gen. John J. Pershing, General Weygandt and Field Marshal Lord Plumer of England, who will represent the late Earl Haig.

TALLAPOOSA,
COOSA RIVERS
RISING RAPIDLY

HEAVY RAINS FELL ON WATER-
SHED OF ALABAMA
RIVER

RED CROSS ESTABLISHES WHITE
CAMPS AT SELMA

Montgomery, Ala., March 22.—(UP)—Flood waters of the Tallapoosa and Coosa rivers were rising rapidly north of here today adding new danger to hundreds of flood refugees as Red Cross and other officials sought to bring order out of the chaos resulting from last week's high waters that spread over southeastern Alabama and portions of Florida and Georgia.

Following heavy rains on the watershed of the Alabama river yesterday, P. H. Smyth, government meteorologist, forecast a new rise on the river. The Alabama has been falling rapidly the past few days after having flooded many thousands of acres near Selma.

Flood gates at Jordan and Martin dams on the Coosa have been raised in view of the expected rise after having been closed with the recession of the stream in its banks during the past several days.

Establishment of white and colored refugee camps at Selma was announced by the Red Cross. It is possible this may be postponed until accurate predictions can be made concerning the expected stage on the Alabama river at that point.

Selma was virtually isolated by the waters during last week and had just begun to emerge from the overflow when the new flood was forecast.

Two hundred families have requested aid toward permanent rehabilitation at Elba where more than 1,000 refugees are being cared for, it was announced by Red Cross officials.

Chicago, March 22.—(UP)—Crumbling levees along the Mississippi river in Illinois, Iowa, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi today inundated thousands of acres of rich farm land, sent farmer scurrying to the uplands and corps of workers to the dikes in an effort to save other districts from being flooded.

Illinois, in the vicinity of Quincy, was the hardest hit by the highest stage of the Mississippi river in 26 years. Indian levee, six miles north of Quincy, crumbled under constant pounding of the river, whipped to greater heights by a high wind.

Factories and wholesale houses along the water front in Quincy are under water and forced to close down. Laborers worked yesterday and all night on levees around Quincy to prevent further overflows.

In Keokuk, Ia., several factories have been closed and water was lapping at the tops of levees made higher by sandbag and lumber barricades.

In case of more strain, workers fear the weakened levees will give way and the river overflow into thousands of acres of bottomland on both sides of the stream.

About 20,000 acres are under water around Quincy and vast stretches along the river in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi also are flooded.

P. W. Brist, meteorologist in St. Louis, said there was little possibility of a further rise in the Mississippi and that concentration of levee workers was more a precaution than of a fear that the levees would break.

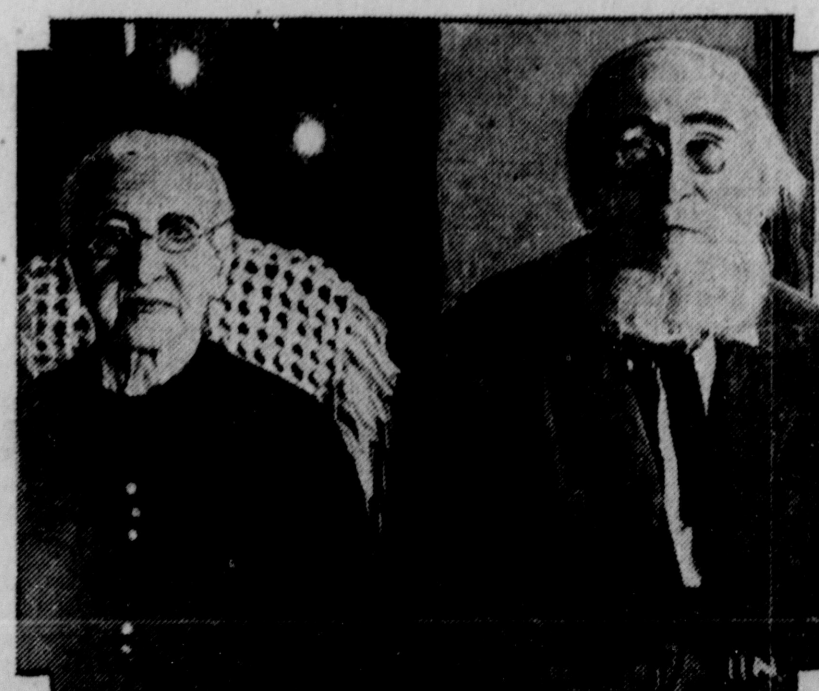

He said tributaries were falling and that he anticipated a drop in a day or two.

More than 100 workers labored all night to prevent a levee below Rock Island, Ill., where 2,000 acres of reclaimed land were threatened, from breaking.

In Wisconsin, further flood damage was reported. Dynamite was used in several places near Stevens Point to blast ice from around railroad bridges. Train service was disrupted on the Neloosa Soo Line branch.

Cherryville, Kan., March 22.—(UP)—Three bandits robbed the cash counters and kidnapped A. D. Bailey, cashier of the People's State Bank here this afternoon. Bailey was released unharmed at Grand Valley, eight miles east of here.

Birmingham, Ala., March 22.—(UP)—At least three persons were killed by a tornado which destroyed the village of Merrillton in eastern Alabama today.

The known dead, according to Mrs. Nixon are: Miller Parker, Roosevelt Smith and John Henry Lee.

Mrs. Nixon, whose telephone apparently was the only one in operation in the village, said the dead might possibly reach 15.

He was informed that such a motion could be made at once and it was assumed that Dunn would call up his tax bill again today.

The Pelican Rapids legislator pointed out that five house members were absent when the vote was taken and that perhaps three of them would have favored the bill.

Opponents of the measure, however, claimed that the majority of the absentees would have voted against the tax.

At any rate it is believed that the heretofore staunchly pro-administration house will rally around the bill especially if it were known that the governor had exhibited interest in it.

Should the bill pass the lower house, however, it would still have to be sent to the senate to hurdle, and that barrier is believed insurmountable in this particular instance.

Dunn and his followers pointed out before the vote was taken that some additional forms of taxation must be found if taxes on real property were not to be raised still higher.

The cigarette tax, they said, would bring at least $1,500,000 to the state coffers annually.

Opponents of the tax declared it would be a nuisance and that the returns would be so small as to constitute a "piker" contribution to the state.

114 LOSE LIVES
IN MOVIE SHOW IN
RUSSIAN PROVINCE

Moscow, March 22.—(UP)—One hundred and fourteen persons lost their lives a week ago in the village of Igolchino, Vladimir province, as the result of a fire which razed the wooden clubhouse in which a motion picture was being shown. It was reported here today.

Most of the village adults and many children were packed into the small hall for the showing of film commemorating the anniversary of the Paris commune. A number of the victims were specially invited from the nearest town of Morum.

HUMBLE OF FRANCE PAY TRIBUTE TO FOCH

BODY OF FIELD MARSHAL RESTS
IN A MAGNIFICENT
CASKET

THRONGS OF ADMIRERS CROWD
INTO QUIET MANSION TO
PAUSE BEFORE BIER

Paris, March 22.—(UP)—The body of Field Marshal Ferdinand Foch rested in a magnificent casket today as the humble of France paid tribute to their great.

Throngs of admirers—stolid war veterans, widows of soldiers and orphans—filed into the quiet mansion on the Rue De Grenelles to pause for a moment beside the bier of the "Little Warrior."

All day the slow file of men and women was to be permitted to pass by the blue-clad body, which was removed this morning from the simple catafalque before which a king had bowed his head a few hours before.

Saturday the doors of the mansion will be closed to permit the family of the great soldier to mourn alone before the government pays the pompous tribute of a national funeral. The great soldier will rest beside the eternal flame under the Arc de Triomphe, which will be draped in black, on Sunday and Monday.

From the grave of the unknown soldier he will be removed to the Notre Dame Cathedral and thence to the Invalides to rest beside that other soldier, Napoleon.

Arrangements have been completed for the national funeral Tuesday although some details still are lacking. Traffic will be suspended on the streets through which the funeral procession will pass.

Church bells throughout Paris will ring. Six horses will draw the gun carriage on which the casket will be placed and the marshal's favorite charge, saddled and with stirrups reversed, will be led behind.

The invitation to allied governments to participate in the funeral services made it probable that the pall bearers would include Marshal Joffre, Gen. John J. Pershing, General Weygandt and Field Marshal Lord Plumer of England, who will represent the late Earl Haig.

Diamond Wedding Anniversary

Married before the Civil War, Mr. and Mrs. John Klemme, of Brookville, Ind., claim the distinction of being the oldest married couple in the United States. Seven of their ten children are alive and will attend their 75th anniversary celebration.

TALLAPOOSA, COOSA RIVERS RISING RAPIDLY

HEAVY RAINS FELL ON WATER-

CAMPS AT SELMA

Montgomery, Ala., March 22.—(UP)—Flood waters of the Tallapoosa and Coosa rivers were rising rapidly north of here today adding new danger to hundreds of flood refugees as Red Cross and other officials sought to bring order out of the chaos resulting from last week's high waters that spread over southeastern Alabama and portions of Florida and Georgia.

Following heavy rains on the watershed of the Alabama river yesterday, P. H. Smyth, government meteorologist, forecast a new rise on the river. The Alabama has been falling rapidly the past few days after having flooded many thousands of acres near Selma.

Flood gates at Jordan and Martin dams on the Coosa have been raised in view of the expected rise after having been closed with the recession of the stream in its banks during the past several days.

Establishment of white and colored refugee camps at Selma was announced by the Red Cross. It is possible this may be postponed until accurate predictions can be made concerning the expected stage on the Alabama river at that point.

Selma was virtually isolated by the waters during last week and had just begun to emerge from the overflow when the new flood was forecast.

Two hundred families have requested aid toward permanent rehabilitation at Elba where more than 1,000 refugees are being cared for, it was announced by Red Cross officials.

Chicago, March 22.—(UP)—Crumbling levees along the Mississippi river in Illinois, Iowa, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi today inundated thousands of acres of rich farm land, sent farmer scurrying to the uplands and corps of workers to the dikes in an effort to save other districts from being flooded.

Illinois, in the vicinity of Quincy, was the hardest hit by the highest stage of the Mississippi river in 26 years. Indian levee, six miles north of Quincy, crumbled under constant pounding of the river, whipped to greater heights by a high wind.

Factories and wholesale houses along the water front in Quincy are under water and forced to close down. Laborers worked yesterday and all night on levees around Quincy to prevent further overflows.

In Keokuk, Ia., several factories have been closed and water was lapping at the tops of levees made higher by sandbag and lumber barricades.

In case of more strain, workers fear the weakened levees will give way and the river overflow into thousands of acres of bottomland on both sides of the stream.

About 20,000 acres are under water around Quincy and vast stretches along the river in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi also are flooded.

F. W. Brist, meteorologist in St. Louis, said there was little possibility of a further rise in the Mississippi and that concentration of levee workers was more a precaution than of a fear that the levees would break.

He said tributaries were falling and that he anticipated a drop in a day or two.

More than 100 workers labored all night to prevent a levee below Rock Island, Ill., where 2,000 acres of reclaimed land were threatened, from breaking.

In Wisconsin, further flood damage was reported. Dynamite was used in several places near Stevens Point to blast ice from around railroad bridges. Train service was disrupted on the Neloosa Soo Line branch.

Cherryville, Kan., March 22.—(UP)—Three bandits robbed the cash counters and kidnaped A. D. Bailey, cashier of the People's State Bank here this afternoon. Bailey was released unharmed at Grand Valley, eight miles east of here.

Brainerd Ladies Band Provide

Party in I. O. O. F. Concluded Even-

Every nook and corner of Brainerd was explored last night by treasure seekers who turned out 150 in number to make the Brainerd Ladies Band Treasure Hunt one of the prime joy feasts of the season.

Five circles in the band organization were represented in the city wide treasure hunt. Each circle of six girls enforced by 24 guests went in different directions to seek the hidden treasures off the well trodden paths of Brainerd.

And the treasures, articles of value, were found only after the most careful instructions were followed.

Throughout the early part of the evening the treasure hunt continued and with every hidden article recovered all returned to the I. O. O. F. hall where a delightful luncheon was served.

Moreover a radio had been installed in the hall and the reception was of the best.

As an additional attraction of the evening Miss Lorraine Morrison gave a piano solo, Pearl Van Horn and Mrs. F. A. Thompson gave readings. In all the evening was a delightful one.

Put a "handful of health" in the muffins tonight

IT TAKES only a few minutes to make bran muffins if you use the famous ALL-BRAN recipe. Just try it. You'll get the lightest, fluffiest, best muffins you ever took from the oven. All the family will surely praise your skill that night!

And remember, you'll be helping them to better health at the same time. For so many foods are lacking in bulk or roughage. And it is this lack that so often causes constipation—which in turn steals energy and health and may even cause serious disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides bulk in generous quantity because it is 100% bran. By serving it in some form every day you can protect your family. So many ways to serve it too. In waffles, breads. Sprinkled into soups. Mixed with other cereals. And, of course, with milk or cream, fruits or honey

ALL-BRAN Muffins

2 tablespoons shortening, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup sour milk, 1 cup Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, 1 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Cream shortening and sugar together, add egg. Mix and sift flour, soda, salt, and baking powder. To creamed mixture add ALL-BRAN, then milk, alternately with sifted dry ingredients. Pour into greased muffin tins, and bake in moderate oven (375° F.) for 20 minutes.

Yield: either 8 large or 12 medium-size muffins. If sweet milk is used instead of sour, omit soda and use 3 teaspoons baking powder.

added, it makes a delightful breakfast dish.

Be sure you get genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Part-bran products, at best, bring part results. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Guaranteed!
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

150 EXPLORE NOOKS FOR TREASURE BITS

Brainerd Ladies Band Provide
Unique Program for Evening's Entertainment

Party in I. O. O. F. Concluded Evening; Radio and Feature Program Enjoyed

Every nook and corner of Brainerd was explored last night by treasure seekers who turned out 150 in number to make the Brainerd Ladies Band Treasure Hunt one of the prime joy fests of the season.

Five circles in the band organization was represented in the city wide treasure hunt. Each circle of six girls enforced by 24 guests went in different directions to seek the hidden treasures off the well trodden paths of Brainerd.

And the treasures, articles of value, were found only after the most careful instructions were followed.

Throughout the early part of the evening the treasure hunt continued and with every hidden article recovered all returned to the I. O. O. F. hall where a delightful luncheon was served.

Moreover a radio had been installed in the hall and the reception was of the best.

As an additional attraction of the evening Miss Lorraine Morrison gave a piano solo, Pearl Van Horn and Mrs. F. A. Thompson gave readings. In all the evening was a delightful one.

Pentecostal Tabernacle Dedication

The Young People of the Full Gospel Assembly 1/2 A street will motor to Crosby tonight to attend the dedication services at the Pentecostal Tabernacle and back again next Friday night at the usual hour with a musical program.

"Dirty ring around the washtubs"
is a dangerous sign

IT MEANS the clothes aren't snowy white. It means there's dirt in them. It means scum forms when you put soap in the water. And that means you're using hard water. Scum always forms in hard water.

What to do? Soften the water with Melo and it is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. No dirty ring forms. The clothes wash snowy white. Delightful suds. And you use only 1/3 or 1/2 the amount of soap ordinarily used in hard water. Get rid of that dirty ring! Get rid of it by buying and using Melo. Get Melo at your grocer's.

PAYROLLS OF BRAINERD INCREASED

THE wage increase at the Northern Pacific railway shops, effective April 1, means approximately an increase of $5,000 to $6,000 a month in shop payrolls. It means much to the men and the city.

Those who have worked so hard in the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations to secure new industries for Brainerd consider the payroll increase is equivalent to gaining a new industry for Brainerd.

The Northern Pacific railway shops continue to be the industrial backbone of the city. A thriving shop force reflects its good fortune throughout every nook and corner of the city.

And then, in the background as a possibility, following surveys and blue prints made, is the railway shops extension westward.

We have often wondered what this "whoopie" business really is. The Detroit News explains that in the old times they didn't "make" whoopie; they "raised" it. And they didn't call it whoopie.

ST. CLOUD, RED WING, MOORHEAD, ST. PAUL WIN 1st ROUNDS

DESPERATE FIGHTS MADE FOR VICTORIES

ST. CLOUD TECH AND MOORHEAD MEET IN SEMI-FINALS TONIGHT

RED WING-MECHANIC ARTS GAME WILL FOLLOW HOUR LATER

Minneapolis, March 22.—(UP)—Victorious in their first round flights four sparkling state high school basketball teams—St. Cloud, Red Wing, Moorhead and Mechanics Arts, St. Paul—today swung into the second round matches in the Minnesota championship tournament.

These four highly representative teams fought desperately for their victories late Thursday before thousands of cheering and excited fans in the University of Minnesota field house.

St. Cloud Tech and Moorhead will meet in the semi-finals at 8 o'clock tonight and the Red Wing-Mechanics Arts game will follow an hour later.

The winners of these two games will clash Saturday night for the championship and the privilege to represent Minnesota in the national tournament at Chicago.

On the basis of form, teamwork, condition and morale, Red Wing is generally favored to carry off the highest state honors, yet there were many who were impressed with the excellent work of both St. Cloud and Moorhead.

All of the opening round games were so close that they could have been won or lost in the final two minutes. A bare six points was the widest gap between the winners and the losers.

St. Cloud nosed out Preston, 18 to 14.

Moorhead topped Ely, 25 to 22.

Red Wing out-smarted Willmar, 24 to 18.

Mechanics Arts pulled ahead of Hendricks, 23 to 18.

The Tech-Preston game, like the others which followed, was close and hard fought. Tech obviously had the better team and might have run up a far greater score except that the players had difficulty in "finding" the basket. Henry Carlson and Lloyd Holstrom played smart basketball for the winners but even their fine performances were slightly overshadowed by Donald Krause who scored seven points for the losers.

Moorhead, the defending champions, defeated Ely by excellent team work. Captain Earl Morgan led his Spudders in fine fashion and in the closing minutes of the game when the strong range team was fast closing up the gap and was within two points of Moorhead, Morgan kept a strong hand on his team and brought them through to victory.

Red Wing and Willmar gave the stellar performance of the initial rounds and kept the 6,000 fans at white heat. Both clubs relied on their clock-like team work but the better balanced team won.

Mechanics Arts and Hendricks showed far dissimilar attacks. The lanky Hendricks players attempted long shots while the St. Paul club took theirs under the basket and although the contest was always close Mechanics drew away to a safe lead in the last few minutes and stayed in front until the final gun.

Preston and Ely will meet in the first round consolation flights this afternoon as will Willmar and Hendricks.

Avon Park, Fla., March 22.—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals ran through a stiff workout here today in preparation for tomorrow's game with the Philadelphia Athletics at Miami. Charley Wilson, recent second baseman, in yesterday's 14 to 7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, hit four times in five times at the plate, twice for extra bases.

GREAT DEMAND FOR TICKETS TO THE BOUT

PRICE OF ADMISSION TO FIGHT AT "THE GARDEN" TREBLES

COAST BOY IS COMING IN AT 140 POUNDS, IF HE CAN MAKE IT

New York, March 22.—(UP)—It is 3 to 1 on Jimmy McLarnin and 3 to 1 for the speculators tonight.

Ever since the McLarnin-Miller match was announced there has been such an incessant demand for tickets that the price of admission has trebled.

The battle over tickets threatens to exceed that which will take place in the ring in Madison Square Garden tonight. Yet this little Jewish cartoonist known as Ray Miller should give Jimmy McLarnin, the baby-faced Irishman from the far coast, the battle of the latter's comparatively brief career.

Miller stopped McLarnin out in Detroit on November 30, no matter what may be said by the latter's manager. As a result, one would suppose that the little Chicagoan would be a favorite in tonight's bout.

Instead of that, McLarnin rules a three to one favorite.

The coast boy is coming in at 140 pounds, if he can make it. Otherwise, Miller will not fight. Since Miller will be giving away between eight and ten pounds, it is hard to blame him for not wanting to submit to a greater handicap.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

Los Angeles, Calif., March 22.—

(UP)—Taking an early lead the Chicago Cubs won from the Detroit Tigers, 8-4, in an exhibition game. It was the second straight series victory for the Cubs. Hornsby, with a home-run, a double, and a single in five times at bat featured for the Cubs.

San Francisco, Calif., March 22.—

(UP)—Two runs in the tenth inning gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-1 victory over the San Francisco team of the Pacific coast league. The Pirates took a two run lead in the first of the fifth when Tauscher hit a home-run and Comorosky doubled to score Adams.

GREGALACH WINS GRAND NATIONAL STEEPLECHASE

BILLY BARTON AND EASTER HERO, AMERICAN HOPES, FAIL IN TEST

OF 66 HORSES THAT STARTED 59 FELL, ONLY SEVEN FINISHING

Alintree Course, Liverpool, England, March 22.—(UP)—Mrs. M. A. Gemmell's Gregalach won the Grand National, the world's greatest steeple chase, for England today.

Billy Barton and Easter Hero, chief hopes of America, failed in the gruelling test, witnessed by a record crowd of about 500,000.

J. H. Whitney's Easter Hero, the favorite, was unable to carry the burden of his 175 pounds to victory and came in second. Richmond was third.

Following Richmond H. Melleray's Belle came in fourth place.

Billy Barfon, the Baltimore jumper and runner-up in last year's race, fell on the first round of the course.

Easter Hero led the field most of the way and was still in front half a mile from home.

Of the 66 horses that started 59 fell, only seven finishing. Last year only two—Tipperary Tim and Billy Barton—finished.

Dallas, Tex., March 22.—(UP)—The Chicago White Sox and the Dallas Steers were to meet in an exhibition game here today. Rain again interfered with the White Sox practice yesterday when it caused postponement of a game between the White Sox and the McKinney semi-pro club.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 22.—

(UP)—The Philadelphia Phillies today are hosts to the Brooklyn Robins and will try to avenge yesterday's defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Manager Burt Shotton is worried about his pitching staff and expects considerable trouble rounding his hurlers into shape.

San Antonio, Tex., March 22.—(UP)—

Only a light workout was in store for the New York Giants today as yesterday's downpour which kept the squad indoors left the field wet and soggy.

Secretary Jim Tierney announced the Giants had purchased Ralph Judd, a right handed pitcher recently made a free agent by Commissioner Landis.

OLD GOLD CIGARETTES WIN FIRST IN TESTS AT YALE

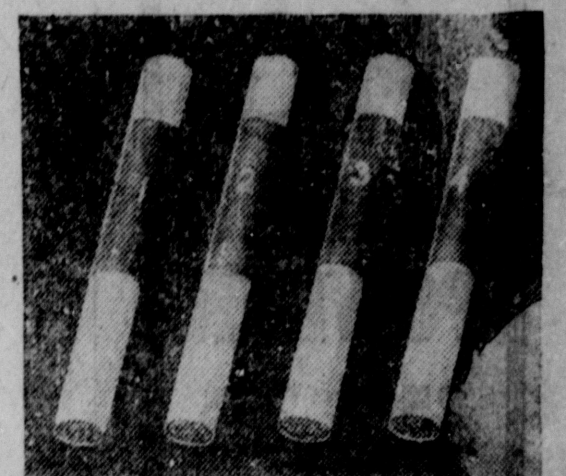

In the recent cigarette test made at the University, Old Golds were chosen by the students as the best. The cigarettes were masked by black labels so that the names of the brands were concealed. Each label was numbered. This was judged to be the most sporting way of testing the merits of the four leading brands. Some 208 Yale students were asked to smoke the four disguised brands without knowing their identity.

They were merely to choose, by number, the one that was most appealing to the taste.

The News supervised the test on January 18 at various fraternity houses and in the News office.

When the votes were recorded it was discovered that Old Gold (Cigarette No. 3) had won. Old Gold was given 63 first choices, which was 11 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 2, 34 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 1, and 53 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 4.

ST. CLOUD, RED WING, MOORHEAD, ST. PAUL WIN 1st ROUNDS

DESPERATE FIGHTS MADE FOR VICTORIES

ST. CLOUD TECH AND MOORHEAD MEET IN SEMI-FINALS TONIGHT

RED WING- MECHANIC ARTS GAME WILL FOLLOW HOUR LATER

Minneapolis, March 22.—(UP)—Victorious in their first round fights four sparkling state high school basketball teams—St. Cloud, Red Wing, Moorhead and Mechanic Arts, St. Paul—today swung into the second round matches in the Minnesota championship tournament.

These four highly representative teams fought desperately for their victories late Thursday before thousands of cheering and excited fans in the University of Minnesota field house.

St. Cloud Tech and Moorhead will meet in the semi-finals at 8 o'clock tonight and the Red Wing-Mechanic Arts game will follow an hour later.

The winners of these two games will clash Saturday night for the championship and the privilege to represent Minnesota in the national tournament at Chicago.

On the basis of form, teamwork, condition and morale, Red Wing is generally favored to carry off the highest state honors, yet there were many who were impressed with the excellent work of both St. Cloud and Moorhead.

All of the opening round games were so close that they could have been won or lost in the final two minutes. A bare six points was the widest gap between the winners and the losers.

St. Cloud nosed out Preston, 18 to 14.

Moorhead topped Ely, 25 to 22.

Red Wing out-smarted Willmar, 24 to 18.

Mechanic Arts pulled ahead of Hendricks, 23 to 18.

The Tech-Preston game, like the others which followed, was close and hard fought. Tech obviously had the better team and might have run up a far greater score except that the players had difficulty in "finding" the basket.

Henry Carlson and Lloyd Holstrom played smart basketball for the winners but even their fine performances were slightly outshone by Donald Krause who scored seven points for the losers.

Captain Earl Morgan led his Spudders in fine fashion and in the closing minutes of the game when the strong range team was fast closing up the gap and was within two points of Moorhead, Morgan kept a strong hand on his team and brought them through to victory.

The lanky Hendricks players attempted long shots while the St. Paul club took theirs under the basket and although the contest was always close Mechanics drew away to a safe lead in the last few minutes and stayed in front until the final gun.

Preston and Ely will meet in the first round consolation flights this afternoon as will Willmar and Hendricks.

Charley Wilson, recent second baseman, in yesterday's 14 to 7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, hit four times in five times at the plate, twice for extra bases.

GREAT DEMAND FOR TICKETS TO THE BOUT

PRICE OF ADMISSION TO FIGHT AT "THE GARDEN" TREBLES

COAST BOY IS COMING IN AT 140 POUNDS, IF HE CAN MAKE IT

New York, March 22.—(UP)—It is 3 to 1 on Jimmy McLarnin and 3 to 1 for the speculators tonight.

Ever since the McLarnin-Miller match was announced there has been such an incessant demand for tickets that the price of admission has trebled.

The battle over tickets threatens to exceed that which will take place in the ring in Madison Square Garden tonight. Yet this little Jewish cartoonist known as Ray Miller should give Jimmy McLarnin, the baby-faced Irishman from the far coast, the battle of the latter's comparatively brief career.

Miller stopped McLarnin out in Detroit on November 30, no matter what may be said by the latter's manager. As a result, one would suppose that the little Chicagoan would be a favorite in tonight's bout.

Instead of that, McLarnin rules a three to one favorite.

The coast boy is coming in at 140 pounds, if he can make it. Otherwise, Miller will not fight. Since Miller will be giving away between eight and ten pounds, it is hard to blame him for not wanting to submit to a greater handicap.

TO FORM POST FOR FOREIGN WAR VETS

Officers Will be Elected and Name for New Post Selected Tomorrow Evening

DELEGATIONS COMING

Post Will be Mustered in by Arthur
C. Peterson, Duluth,
Chief of Staff

All men who have served in the wars of the U. S. on foreign soil or in hostile waters are invited to attend the formation of a Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the Moose hall at Brainerd March 23, at 8 p. m. Officers will be elected and a name for the post will be selected.

The Post will be Post No. 1647, and will be mustered in by Arthur C. Peterson, of Duluth, Chief of Staff of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Delegations of overseas men are going to Brainerd from the Twin Cities, Duluth, St. Cloud, Anoka, Mankato, etc.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States were organized in 1899 by an amalgamation of the Mexican War Veterans of 1846-48, the Army of the Philippines and other veterans organizations. It is one of the oldest service organizations in the United States. Its objects, aims and principles are contained in Article One of its Constitution which reads as follows:

"The objects of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are fraternal, patriotic, historical, and educational; to preserve and strengthen comradeship among its members; to assist worthy comrades; to perpetuate the memory and history of our dead, and to assist their widows and orphans; to maintain true allegiance to the Government of the United States of America and fidelity to its constitution and laws; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American Freedom; and to preserve and defend the United States from all her enemies, whomsoever."

The Veterans of Foreign Wars have 1648 posts functioning in all parts of the United States and its Territorial Possessions. Its membership is composed exclusively of veterans who have seen Foreign Service on land, sea, or air, in wars and campaigns conducted by the United States. As its membership includes men who are eligible and actually members of other service organizations it is naturally not in competition or conflict with any of them. It has consistently adopted a policy of co-operation with the other veteran organizations, such as the Disabled American Veterans, the American Legion, etc., and has consistently assisted them in securing beneficial State and National legislation for the disabled; in the promotion of high ideals of patriotism and Americanism, and in all activities that tend to improve the local community, State and Nation.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars have been a strong, active force in Minnesota since 1900, when two posts were organized—the M. M. Carleton Post No. 5 (in St. Paul) and the A. R. Patterson Post No. 7 (in Minneapolis). The Minnesota Department was organized January 17, 1921, with O. C. Sandstad of Kenyon as Department Commander, and has progressed in membership and influence since then under Department Commanders, John Rowe, T. M. Thomson, Geo. A. Ferguson, Hugo Hartig, Phil E. Comstock, and Edward Nelson.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars was the first organization to establish at Washington, D. C., a Service Bureau to assist the disabled man—this office being established in September 1919. This bureau has functioned since in unity, co-operation and comradeship with the Bureau maintained by the other service organizations. This bureau handles the claims of Service men and all National legislation beneficial to them. The Bureau is represented in Minnesota by T. M. Thomson, 842 Metropolitan Bank Bldg., Minneapolis. In 1928 a Naval Liaison Bureau was established by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Washington, D. C., to assist the "Gobs."

Each Department has a Rehabilitation Committee and each Post has a Service Officer for the purpose of assisting service men to secure compensation, hospitalization, and proper treatment, and who work in co-operation with the United States Veterans Bureau and the National Service Bureau of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

MANY VIEW FIRST ALL STEEL REFRIGERATOR

Favorable Comments Mark Presentation of New Type Refrigerator Cabinets

As announced in a series of advertisements running in this paper, the Treasure Chest in the window of the Alderman-Maghan store was opened at 11 A. M. today.

The opening of this chest revealed a sparkling white General Electric Refrigerator, the first all-steel refrigerator that has been offered to the public. Many favorable comments were made by those present and Mr. Alderman, sales manager, predicts a great demand for these refrigerators. "The all-steel cabinet will give a lifetime of service," he said. "There is no wood to warp, swell or retain food odors. The joints are electrically welded and cannot open. The hardware is bolted firmly to the steel body and in tests, the self-closing latch stood up perfectly after having been slammed shut 300,000 times by a machine.

"It is the last word in sanitary cabinet construction and with the quiet, efficient General Electric icing unit, should give years of satisfactory service. Interesting statistics published by Electrical Merchandising show that there are over 19 million wired homes now in the United States, or which only 6.4 per cent have electric refrigerators. 468,000 were sold in 1928 and it is quite possible that the sales of domestic machines in 1929 will run between six and seven hundred thousand machines. People are realizing more and more the importance and economy of perfect refrigeration both winter and summer."

The rainbow of promise shone brightly this noon when J. F. Cubberley, of Minneapolis, supervisor of theatres and theatre construction of the Finkelstein & Ruben organization met with the theatre committee of the Chamber of Commerce and made this announcement, effectually dispelling the gloom which had hitherto shrouded the theatre situation in Brainerd:

Finkelstein & Ruben have secured a 25-year lease of the Park theatre site and additional ground.

Have signed a deal buying the interests of Clyde E. Parker.

Plan $50,000 building program at the Park theatre.

The Lycium theatre to be closed later and all attention centered on the Park as the city will not support two theatres.

The committee and others meeting with Mr. Cubberley were R. L. Gelst, R. E. Wyett, Dr. E. C. Herzog, C. A. Ryan, W. F. Hall, W. P. Tyrholm, City Attorney D. H. Fullerton.

As to the Park, when all preliminary details are completed, architects plans drawn, materials selected, etc., the old building will be completely gutted, said Mr. Cubberley, balconies torn out, etc., and that section remodeled to form the auditorium of the theatre seating about 900. At the front of the building will be erected the section, a story in height, with foyer, lobby, etc. Vitaphone and Movietone are to be added at the Park.

The actual work of building can be done in 90 days, said Mr. Cubberley. New seats, new machines, new decorations will transform the building and make the theatre a real asset to the city.

Permission will be asked from the city to put an electric sign across South Sixth street.

ASK EARLY BURNING OF UNCUT MEADOWS

No Burning Permit Will be Demanded by Forestry Department Until April 1

Four Fire Towers Have Been Erected in District in the Past Year

In another ten days or two weeks the spring fire season will be at hand and to eliminate the fire hazard as much as possible, the Forestry Department is urging the early burning of any uncut meadows which may be needed for hay crop this season while there is snow in the woods and also the burning of old slash which might be a fire hazard if left for burning later, according to E. H. Rhodes, district forest ranger.

Notices are being run in some six or eight papers of the district, this week, requesting that uncut meadows be burned while there is snow in the woods and stating that no burning permits will be demanded until April 1.

The above does not mean, however, that fires should be set, left unattended and allowed to spread over large meadows which cover several tracts of land belonging to several parties. In case hay or other property is destroyed the person setting fire will be held responsible.

Beginning April 2, however, a close check-up will be made on all fires and Township Fire Wardens are requested to write or telephone the local ranger of any failures to obtain permits. It is understood, of course, that burning may be done without a burning permit, if person doing such burning has a "freshly plowed fire-break sufficient to check the spread of said fire, around the area wherein such burning is being done." It costs nothing, however, to obtain a burning permit and might save a person from being prosecuted on this charge, should his fire accidentally blow over the supposed proper fire-break.

Four fire towers have been erected in the district the past year, at Spider Lake, Emily, Pequot and Ahren's Hill. As soon as fires begin to run in the woods, men will be placed on look-out duty and it is hoped to hold fire damage down to a minimum this year. With a fifth tower, which may be erected west of Ft. Ripley, a complete coverage of the district can be made, except in very hazy weather.

Men recommended as township fire wardens at the recent township elections will not receive appointment until July 1, as wardens holding commissions from last year hold office until that date.

$50,000 TO BE SPENT ON PARK THEATRE

J. F. Cubberley of F. & R. Organization Makes Announcement to Chamber Commerce Committee

MEETS WITH THEM

Lyceum Theatre to be Closed Later and All Attention Centered on the Park Theatre

The rainbow of promise shone brightly this noon when J. F. Cubberley, of Minneapolis, supervisor of theatres and theatre construction of the Finkelstein & Ruben organization met with the theatre committee of the Chamber of Commerce and made this announcement, effectually dispelling the gloom which had hitherto shrouded the theatre situation in Brainerd:

Finkelstein & Ruben have secured a 25-year lease of the Park theatre site and additional ground.

Have signed a deal buying the interests of Clyde E. Parker.

Plan $50,000 building program at the Park theatre.

The Lyceum theatre to be closed later and all attention centered on the Park as the city will not support two theatres.

The committee and others meeting with Mr. Cubberley were R. L. Geist, R. E. Wyett, Dr. E. C. Herzog, C. A. Ryan, W. F. Hall, W. P. Tyrholm, City Attorney D. H. Fullerton.

As to the Park, when all preliminary details are completed, architects plans drawn, materials selected, etc., the old building will be completely gutted, said Mr. Cubberley, balconies torn out, etc., and that section remodeled to form the auditorium of the theatre seating about 900. At the front of the building will be erected the section, a story in height, with foyer, lobby, etc. Vitaphone and Movietone are to be added at the Park.

The actual work of building can be done in 90 days, said Mr. Cubberley. New seats, new machines, new decorations will transform the building and make the theatre a real asset to the city.

Permission will be asked from the city to put an electric sign across South Sixth street.

NEW PLAN TO RUN LUM PARK PROPOSED

C. G. Holmstrom, Fifth Ward Alderman Announces He Will Not Run

Petitions were being circulated today to place Frank B. Johnson, druggist, on the ballot for alderman of the second ward.

Citizens from the second ward appealed to him to become a candidate for that office when it became known that A. A. Weideman had decided against running for the office because of business reasons.

C. G. Holmstrom announced today that he would not be a candidate for reelection to the council from the fifth ward. His withdrawal leaves J. M. Mraz and Harry Greger in the race for the office.

Lamonte P. Koop filed his petition with the city clerk this afternoon for candidacy as judge of municipal court. Mr. Koop was born and raised in Brainerd. He was one of the first men to leave here to engage in actual warfare in the late war in April 1917. Warner who has already filed his petition.

ASK EARLY BURNING OF UNCUT MEADOWS

No Burning Permit Will be Demanded by Forestry Department Until April 1

Four Fire Towers Have Been Erected in District in the Past Year

In another ten days or two weeks the spring fire season will be at hand and to eliminate the fire hazard as much as possible, the Forestry Department is urging the early burning of any uncut meadows which may be needed for hay crop this season while there is snow in the woods and also the burning of old slash which might be a fire hazard if left for burning later, according to E. H. Rhodes, district forest ranger.

Notices are being run in some six or eight papers of the district, this week, requesting that uncut meadows be burned while there is snow in the woods and stating that no burning permits will be demanded until April 1.

The above does not mean, however, that fires should be set, left unattended and allowed to spread over large meadows which cover several tracts of land belonging to several parties. In case hay or other property is destroyed the person setting fire will be held responsible.

Beginning April 2, however, a close check-up will be made on all fires and Township Fire Wardens are requested to write or telephone the local ranger of any failures to obtain permits. It is understood, of course, that burning may be done without a burning permit, if person doing such burning has a "freshly plowed fire-break sufficient to check the spread of said fire, around the area wherein such burning is being done." It costs nothing, however, to obtain a burning permit and might save a person from being prosecuted on this charge, should his fire accidentally blow over the supposed proper fire-break.

Four fire towers have been erected in the district the past year, at Spider Lake, Emily, Pequot and Ahren's Hill. ## WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

WHEN Lilith Holden died and left the infant Lilith, Guinn, her husband, married Irene Robeline, who had been in love with Guinn. For twenty years Irene worked and slaved as the wife of the handsome Texas minister. The love she hoped to earn she found was given wholly to the beautiful grown-up Lilith. As Guinn spoiled this blonde image of the dead Lilith, Irene buried her grief in ministering to her own children Tina, Ross, Lundy and Patricia, who were secondary in their father's affections. After college Lilith, given a year to study music in New York, fell in love with Bill Chester, scion of wealth and family tradition. At home Tina wearing Lilith's cast off clothes, which failed to hide her dark gypsy-like beauty, becomes engaged to a handsome lad, Dan, beloved by all the family. Lilith, seeking only her own selfish ends, breaks her engagement with Roger Devereaux, Texas boy, when Bill promises to end his betrothal to Sally Burton, society manded his presence. Bill, madly in love with Lilith, devotes his last week to her. Before sailing she seals her love by giving herself to him. Lilith spends her days re-reading Bill's cables confirming his love. But in Paris he agrees to marry Sally at his grandfather's command. Lilith is stunned with the message, "Sally and I were married this morning. Forgive me and forget." Lilith for the first time learned grief. She threw herself into her music study. Then came an offer of a Winter in Paris with Vivien Winthrop, an opportunity to wither Bill with scorn. But a doctor's visit ends all. Lilith is to have a child. She moves to an unknown address. Will Lundy, family friend, finds her there and tells the truth to Irene upon his return. Irene outwits the family and plans to join Lilith with Lundy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LIX.

NEXT Monday afternoon Irene joined Will at the Pennsylvania Station in New York and went with him to the house where Lilith had a room. It was a shabby, cheap house, of the type known as a "walk-up." From the basement windows dirty child faces peered at the intruders like furtive wild animals, and a janitor fuddled from drink opened the door to their ring.

"Does Miss Lilith Holden have a room here?" Will asked.

"Top floor. Ring the bell up there," he said, looking at them with weary eyes of curiosity.

"Think of it—Lilith here!" She caught a sobbing breath.

Will Lundy's fingers closed round her arm in a strengthening grip. "You mustn't go to pieces before her, you know."

"No, I won't." She straightened up like a soldier under command as they started up the stairs. Lilith needed her. She must be strong, composed.

When they had toiled up five flights, which seemed like fifty, Lundy struck a match to light the gloom enough for them to see their way.

"I think I'd better go in by myself the first time," she whispered. "Maybe that would be better. I'll wait on the floor below for a minute, and after that I'm at the Pennsylvania, you know."

He set her bag down and retreated down one flight of stairs to wait outside.

Irene pushed the bell and a woman in a red kimono, with frowzy hennaed hair, opened the door a mere crack, as if suspicious of visitors.

"Is Miss Lilith Holden here?" asked Irene.

"Yes. The door opened grudgingly, a wretched maid puffed in her disheveled maid down a hallway, tapped on a door, and called: 'Miss Holden!'

"Come in," a listless voice answered. The woman gestured to Irene to enter, after which she retreated to her own quarters.

Irene put her hand on the knob hesitantly, so overcome by fear and suspense that she was almost nauseated. But she must get a grip on herself. Lilith needed her. At that thought she opened the door and walked in.

She did not turn at her entrance. She must think it was the landlady.

"Well?" she said in a tone of weariness and contempt. Irene set her bag down and opened her arms. "Lilith!"

"Mother!" The girl sprang to her feet, made an instinctive start toward her, then recoiled. Her face became a frozen mask of defiance.

"What are you doing here?" she asked, in the tone of contempt she had used toward the landlady. So might a queen or an empress have rebuked an insolent guard in her prison.

Irene closed the door behind her, then held out her arms again, but she made no attempt to approach the girl. She must be very cautious.

"I've come to be with you, my child." She tried to make her tone tranquil, matter-of-fact. Did her face show any of the emotion that strangled her? Her knees shook, her muscles felt like water, and her head was dizzy, but with power of will she tried to seem calm.

"And why?" Lilith's voice was hard, and her eyes had the blue gleam of a glacier.

Irene could not storn that defense. She could only say quietly, "Because you need me."

The golden head held itself erect, haughty. . . "I didn't ask your help. I ask nothing, from anybody—but to be let alone."

"Your mother doesn't wait to be asked, my dear, my dear!" "You're not my mother!"

Irene sat down on a corner of the couch to steady her shaking limbs. She might fall in a heap if she tried to stand any longer.

"I didn't give you birth, Lilith. But in every other way I've tried to be your mother. . . I'm the only one you've got now. I've loved you as my daughter for over twenty years."

"That doesn't give you the right to track me down—to spy on me—to reproach me!"

Lilith slumped down in her chair, as if suddenly remembering her distorted body. Her hands clenched and unclenched.

"I didn't come to spy on you or to reproach you, my child. I only came to help you!" Tears burned her eyes, but she must not let them show, she must be composed.

"I notice my father didn't come." There was a concentrated bitterness in her tone. "He has cast me off as a 'scarlet woman,' I suppose."

"You are his darling daughter. He—he doesn't know anything about this."

Lilith whirled around, her face full of amazement, her mask lifted at last. "You mean you haven't told him?"

"No."

"And when are you going to tell him—about his darling daughter?" "Never at all, if it can be helped."

"And how do you think it can?" the girl sneered.

"Easily enough, if you'll trust yourself to me, Lilith." Her voice and eyes were steady now.

She mustn't emotionalize. Lilith always hated sentimentality.

"How?" the hard voice mocked. "I haven't—worked out all the plans yet. Dr. Lundy is here in New York taking lectures . . . and he'll help us . . . he'll look after us."

"Who else—knows?"

"No one. No one else need know at all—ever, I hope."

Lilith thought a moment, her figure tensed, in defiance. Then she said in icy tones, "I may as well agree. Your plan has one advantage over mine."

She paused, as if expecting a question. But Irene, determined to do nothing, say nothing that might estrange her now, kept silent.

Lilith went on. "I'd thought of a plunge in the river some night—soon. But I've a reason for preferring to live for a while yet."

"Of course," she answered soothingly.

"Not what you think. I want to see—a certain person once more—just once more—and tell him how I despise him!"

Irene kept silent.

The girl continued in a tone of weary contempt. "And when does the inquisition begin?"

"What do you mean?" "Your questions as to who—and when—and how?"

Irene leaned forward and faced her firmly. "Lilith, I'm not going to pry into your affairs. Tell me only what you wish."

"That will be—nothing."

"Very well. I don't see what good could come of going over it. Unless you—would marry the man."

"That's impossible!" She spat out the words.

"We'll leave it at that, then." The girl turned sharply as if a sudden thought had struck her.

"How did you get away—without telling your reasons?"

Irene forced herself to speak cheerfully. "I told them I'd come up for a little visit and come home with you."

"I see. To help me finish out my—pleasure year?"

"And now let's go and get something to eat," she said in a practical tone. "I'm hungry after my long trip."

Dr. Lundy looked after the details of their plan, thought everything out in advance and arranged it so there need be as little discussion as possible. He found a furnished apartment in a walk-up house, and installed a private telephone not listed. He took a box in the nearest branch post office for Irene.

"Write Guinn to send letters and telegrams there," he instructed her. "I've written him that Lilith is on the verge of a nervous breakdown and must be kept quiet as possible, absolutely secluded from any interruption."

"God knows that's true enough." "It's excuse enough for your staying up here as long as you're needed, and for keeping visitors away. We don't want any friends dropping in on you."

The apartment he had taken was on the top floor and had an extension below it, a small roof that gave chance for air and sunshine. They could sit there when they liked.

"I have a room across the street," he told her. "You get in touch with a doctor in the neighborhood, who will ostensibly be in charge when the time comes."

"I wish you were going to be in the apartment with us."

"That wouldn't be wise. Lilith's on edge enough as it is. We've got to look after her surreptitiously."

"Will, she's so hard! And prouder now than she ever was. At a time when any other girl would be in the dust—she's like a queen!"

"Defense mechanism," he diagnosed.

"It almost breaks my heart!" "It's better for her than hysterics would be. That icy wall of reserve, that surface pride is all that keeps her up. Don't try to break it down."

"I won't. Oh, Will, how is this going to end?"

"Buck up," he said courageously. "I'll pull you through."

"Married Life" Not Worth While

Blames Wives "Nerves"

"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "in my estimation wreck more happily married lives than any other cause."

Besides making the sweetest disposition sour and irritable, nervousness is a terrible drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and dulls your beauty. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl he married. No wonder married life seems unbearable!

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady-nerved, radiant woman you once were. Take a teaspoonful of Tanlac before meals and before going to bed and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

WHEN Lilith Holden died and left the infant Lilith, Guinn, her husband, married Irene Robeline, who had been in love with Guinn. For twenty years Irene worked and slaved as the wife of the handsome Texas minister. The love she hoped to earn she found was given wholly to the beautiful grown-up Lilith. As Guinn spoiled the blonde image of the dead Lilith, Irene buried her grief in ministering to her own children Tina, Ross, Lundy and Patricia, who were secondary in their father's affections. After college Lilith, given a year to study music in New York, fell in love with Bill Chester, scion of wealth and family tradition. At home Tina wearing Lilith's cast off clothes, which failed to hide her dark gypsy-like beauty, became engaged to a handsome lad, Dan, beloved by all the family. Lilith, seeking only her own selfish ends, breaks her engagement with Roger Devereaux, Texas boy, when Bill promises to end his betrothal to Sally Burton, society manded his presence, Bill madly in love with Lilith devotes his last week to her. Before sailing she seals her love by giving herself to him. Lilith spends her days re-reading Bill's cables confirming his love. But in Paris he agrees to marry Sally at his grandfather's command. Lilith is stunned with the message, "Sally and I were married this morning. Forgive me and forget." Lilith for the first time learned grief. She threw herself into her music study. Then came an offer of a Winter in Paris with Vivien Winthrop, an opportunity to wither Bill with society. But a doctor's visit ends all. Lilith is to have a child. She moves to an unknown address. Will Lundy, family friend, finds her there and tells the truth to Irene upon his return. Irene outwits the family and plans to join Lilith with Lundy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LIX.

NEXT Monday afternoon Irene joined Will at the Pennsylvania Station in New York and went with him to the house where Lilith had a room. It was a shabby, cheap house, of the type known as a "walk-up." From the basement windows dirty child faces peered at the intruders like furtive wild animals, and a janitor fuddled from drink opened the door to their ring.

"Does Miss Lilith Holden have a room here?" Will asked.

"Top floor. Ring the bell up there," he said, looking at them with bleary eyes of curiosity.

"Think of it—Lilith here!" She caught a sobbing breath.

Will Lundy's fingers closed round her arm in a strengthening grip. "You mustn't go to pieces before her, you know."

"No, I won't." She straightened up like a soldier under command as they started up the stairs. Lilith needed her. She must be strong, composed.

When they had toiled up five flights, which seemed like fifty, Lundy struck a match to light the gloom enough for them to see their way.

"I think I'd better go in by myself the first time," she whispered. "Maybe that would be better. I'll wait on the floor below for a minute, and after that I'm at the Pennsylvania, you know."

He set her bag down and retreated down one flight of stairs to await results.

Irene pushed the bell and a woman in a red kimono, with frowzy hennaed hair, opened the door a mere crack, as if suspicious of visitors.

"Is Miss Lilith Holden here?" asked Irene.

"Yes." The door opened grudgingly, a woman padded in her disreputable mules down a hallway, tapped on a door, and called: "Miss Holden!"

"Come in," a listless voice answered.

The woman gestured to Irene to enter, after which she retreated to her own quarters.

Irene put her hand on the knob hesitantly, so overcome by fear and suspense that she was almost nauseated. But she must get a grip on herself. Lilith needed her. At that thought she opened the door and walked in.

She did not turn at her entrance. She must think it was the landlady.

"Well?" she said in a tone of weariness and contempt.

Irene set her bag down and opened her arms. "Lilith!"

"Mother!" The girl sprang to her feet, made an instinctive start toward her, then recoiled. Her face became a frozen mask of defiance.

"What are you doing here?" she asked, in the tone of contempt she had used toward the landlady. So might a queen or an empress have rebuked an insolent guard in her prison.

Irene closed the door behind her, then held out her arms again, but she made no attempt to approach the girl. She must be very cautious.

"I've come to be with you, my child." She tried to make her tone tranquil, matter-of-fact. Did her face show any of the emotion that strangled her? Her knees shook, her muscles felt like water, and her head was dizzy, but with power of will she tried to seem calm.

"And why?" Lilith's voice was hard, and her eyes had the blue gleam of a glacier.

Irene could not storm that defense. She could only say quietly, "Because you need me."

The golden head held itself erect, haughty. "I didn't ask your help. I ask nothing, from anybody—but to be let alone."

"A mother doesn't want to be asked, my dear, my dear!" "You're not my mother!"

Irene sat down on a corner of the couch to steady her shaking limbs. She might fall in a heap if she tried to stand any longer.

"I didn't give you birth, Lilith. But in every other way I've tried to be your mother. . . . I'm the only one you've got now. I've loved you as my daughter, for over twenty years."

"That doesn't give you the right to track me down—to spy on me—to reproach me!"

Lilith slumped down in her chair, as if suddenly remembering her distorted body. Her hands clenched and unclenched.

"I didn't come to spy on you or to reproach you, my child. I only came to help you!" Tears burned her eyes, but she must not let them show, she must be composed.

"I notice my father didn't come." There was a concentrated bitterness in her tone. "He has cast me off as a 'scarlet woman,' I suppose."

"You are his darling daughter. He—he doesn't know anything about this."

Lilith whirled around, her face full of amazement, her mask lifted at last. "You mean you haven't told him?"

"No."

"And when are you going to tell him—about his darling daughter?"

"Never at all, if it can be helped."

"And how do you think it can?" the girl sneered.

"Easily enough, if you'll trust yourself to me, Lilith." Her voice and eyes were steady now.

She mustn't emotionalize, Lilith always hated sentimentality.

"How?" the hard voice mocked. "I haven't—worked out all the plans yet. Dr. Lundy is here in New York taking lectures. . . . and he'll help us. . . . he'll look after us."

"Who else—knows?"

"No one. No one else need know at all—ever, I hope."

Lilith thought a moment, her figure tensed, in defiance. Then she said in icy tones, "I may as well agree. Your plan has one advantage over mine."

She paused, as if expecting a question. But Irene, determined to do nothing, say nothing that might estrange her now, kept silent.

Lilith went on. "I'd thought of a plunge in the river some night—soon. But I've a reason for—preferring to live for a while yet."

"Of course," she answered soothingly.

"Not what you think. I want to see—a certain person once more—just once more—and tell him how I despise him!"

Irene kept silent.

The girl continued in a tone of weary content. "And when does the inquisition begin?"

"What do you mean?"

"Your questions as to who—and when—and how?"

Irene leaned forward and faced her firmly. "Lilith, I'm not going to pry into your affairs. Tell me only what you wish."

"That will be—nothing."

"Very well. I don't see what good could come of going over it. Unless you—would marry the man."

"That's impossible!" She spat out the words.

"We'll leave it at that, then."

The girl turned sharply as if a sudden thought had struck her.

"How did you get away—without telling your reasons?"

Irene forced herself to speak cheerfully. "I told them I'd come up for a little visit and come home with you."

"I see."

"To help me finish out my—pleasure year?"

"And now let's go and get something to eat," she said in a practical tone. "I'm hungry after my long trip."

Dr. Lundy looked after the details of their plan, thought everything out in advance and arranged it so there need be as little discussion as possible. He found a small furnished apartment in a walk-up house, and installed a private telephone not listed. He took a box in the nearest branch post office for Irene.

"Write Guinn to send letters and telegrams there," he instructed her. "I've written him that Lilith is on the verge of a nervous breakdown and must be kept quiet as possible, absolutely secluded from any interruption."

"God knows that's true enough."

"It's excuse enough for your staying up here as long as you're needed, and for keeping visitors away. We don't want any friends dropping in on you."

The apartment he had taken was on the top floor and had an extension below it, a small roof that gave chance for air and sunshine. They could sit there when they liked.

"I have a room across the street," he told her. "You get in touch with a doctor in the neighborhood, who will ostensibly be in charge when the time comes."

"I wish you were going to be in the apartment with us."

"That wouldn't be wise. Lilith's on edge enough as it is. We've got to look after her surreptitiously."

"Will, she's so hard! And prouder now than she ever was. At a time when any other girl would be in the dust—she's like a queen!"

"Defense mechanism," he diagnosed.

"It almost breaks my heart!"

"It's better for her than hysterics would be. That icy wall of reserve, that surface pride is all that keeps her up. Don't try to break it down."

"I won't. Oh, Will, how is this going to end?"

"Buck up," he said courageously. "I'll pull you through."
